HATCH OPENINGS
Whenever possible, hatch openings should be accommodated within the trussed rafter design spacing. When this is not possible, the method illustrated below should be used.

B maximum is equal to twice the design truss spacing less the opening width.

Common rafter 25 mm deeper than trussed rafter and birdsmouthed over wallplate.

Common ceiling joist nailed to side of common rafter, side to match bottom chord of trussed rafter.